LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Regarding: Garno Tech — Portfolio website and content management

To whom it may concern,

Our studio needed a website that presented completed residential work with the same care we put into our project photography. We were concerned about image quality, page speed, and the ability to add case studies without involving a developer each time.

Garno Tech built a portfolio structure with flexible project layouts, image galleries, and a manageable editing workflow. They also helped us think through how visitors move from an individual project to a consultation request. Small details, such as how photography crops on narrower screens, received proper attention.

The launch process was organized and the handover was clear. We had a few late edits to project descriptions and the team worked through them methodically. The website feels like an accurate representation of our business and is much easier for us to keep current. We appreciated the balance of technical advice and respect for our visual direction.

Kind regards,
