LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

Regarding: Garno Tech — Corporate website and wholesale inquiry flow

To whom it may concern,

We wanted to refresh our online presence before approaching a larger group of wholesale buyers. The site needed to communicate our product range, production capabilities, and ordering process without resembling a consumer online store.

Garno Tech created a multilingual-ready corporate website with product category pages, downloadable specification sheets, and a wholesale contact form. They paid close attention to the information a prospective distributor needs before making an initial inquiry, and suggested a cleaner distinction between our retail story and our B2B offering.

We appreciated their disciplined approach to content, revisions, and launch checks. The team was clear about which items were included in the agreed scope and helped us plan later enhancements separately. The finished website provides a credible first introduction for prospective partners and is straightforward for our staff to update.

Kind regards,

Business Development Lead
